

When you are in abroad for higher education
----- Supriya Kumar Chakraborty

After a massive effort, you have reached your foreign destination for higher education, now you may think I have successfully come here and so all problems have now gone. I am now free from all hazards. No, you may have to face various problems on foreign ground. And we are now highlighting on these problems. We hope if you try to tactfully avoid these titles looking but sensitive issues then you, too, can be a good caption and best student.

1. On the foreign ground, you can in no way attach the most importance to yourself choices, likings, insistence, anger, emotion or affection. It may be difficult to adjust with everything.
2. Whimsically and all on a sudden, don't discuss your problems with all or don't discuss your future plan or present state with any person. It may create newer problems.
3. For enviable success, bright students may sometimes be somewhat shameless. They don't want to discuss on notes, topics or suggestions at first stage. If needed, you be such. No hesitation, to be that.
4. Don't go out of hostel when anybody asks to do so repeatedly, especially to night clubs or disco clubs. In all countries, at any time any accident may occur. You may not get people to look after you like your dear ones. Therefore, be cautions first. Cautions save a lot.
5. Don't enter into any discussion concerning religion or politics with foreign friends. Remember they are more ideas in the topics than you have. Foreigners' main characteristics are to talk little but to work a lot.
6. If any roommate wants dollar/pound from you on loan basis, without any hesitation, tell him about your incapability. Otherwise, lack of money will make you suffer a lot.
7. When you get sick or ill, phone your relatives, listen to their affectionate words and take medicine on regular basis. You will see you have come round soon.

8. In the case of doing a part time job, always be careful about whether this job is badly affecting your career. Remember, you have no especial career. Remember, you have no especial value without obtaining higher degree. Even not socially you will be valued.

9. Present flowers as gift on the birth days of university teachers or on some occasions. If possible, convey greetings to classmates.

10. While staying in hostel, never engage yourself in any activities contrary to ethics, like playing on chess, etc. This may occur serious accident or breed bad news.

To conclude, never project own country badly. Arrange functions to observe your country's special days to highlight your country's image. Invite everybody in those functions. You will see you have become an Ambassador for your beloved motherland.
